The Sportswoman.—Many smart sports models are on Dame Fashion's early summer schedule. Here's one that is representative. It is a "Mayer Chic" suit of checked velour over a Zukin blouse of white crepe jersey.

Paisley Tea.—Not an advertisement, but a condensed description of this creation, which Georgie Empey is wearing. It is a dainty tea gown of crepe chenette, with Paisley panel back.

For All Purposes.—This costume is called a general sports model. It is a "Mayer Chic" creation and consists of a skirt of striped glove cloth with coat of black velvet.

Simplicity Plus.—If simplicity can be described as audacious, then this simple skirt is strikingly so. "Tally-Ho" silk is the fabric used.

"Lady Ware" Model.—This design that Thelma Van is wearing is a tea gown and is called the "Neptune." It derives its name from the new shade of green satin panne, of which it is constructed. Ecu lace is the only trimming used.

(Right) Zukin's "Daybreak."—Hope Hampton displays a dainty summer frock, by Zukin. It is constructed of "Daybreak" crepe chenette, with matching satin and embroidered collars and cuffs.

Another Sports Model.—New cape designed by "Mayer Chic," consisting of skirt and cape of tan cheviot, with a Zukin tailored blouse of white crepe jersey.

Right Pleats Spell Comfort.—Ample pleated for comfort and freedom, this fine silk skirt is one of the reasons why silk is becoming, more and more, the preferred material for summer wear.
